

Antonio Casu Italdesign Chief Executive Officer

Antonio Casu is CEO of Italdesign, the Turin-based design and engineering company that works with leading automotive and mobility brands worldwide, supporting vehicle development from concept to production.

A mechanical engineer educated at Politecnico di Torino, Casu joined Italdesign in 1998. He has developed his professional expertise across body engineering, program management, and technical leadership, before being appointed Chief Technical Officer and, in November 2021, CEO. Over more than twenty-five years in the automotive sector, his career has been closely linked to the integration of engineering rigor and long-term industrial strategy, accompanying Italdesign's growth in scale, international presence, and cross-sector activities.

Alongside his role at Italdesign, Casu serves as Vice President of Unione Industriali Torino and, since 2024, has been a member of the Management Board of Vehicle Valley Piemonte — an international ecosystem bringing together world-class companies, designers, manufacturers, and research centers to shape the future of mobility.
